What should you keep in mind before travelling to Germany?

If you fall ill during your temporary stay in Germany, you will receive necessary benefits in kind – medical or dental treatment, hospital treatment, and medicines – as provided for under German law.

To receive these benefits, you need a European Health Insurance Card (EHIC), alternatively a Provisional Replacement Certificate (PRC) or – if you are from the United Kingdom – a Global Health Insurance Card (GHIC) issued by your healthcare insurer. The EHIC is often displayed on the back of the national health insurance card. You can find information on the EHIC under: http://ec.europa.eu/social/main.jsp?catId=653&langId=en.

The EHIC, GHIC or PRC equally covers benefits in kind that you receive due to a chronic disease or preexisting condition. Please note that you need to consult the healthcare provider before your stay in Germany for specific vitally necessary treatment that may only be provided in specialised healthcare facilities (such as kidney dialysis, chemo or oxygen therapy). You should contact a German health insurance fund of your choice in good time before your stay in Germany to make sure that you can easily claim benefits.

Your EHIC, GHIC or PRC does not cover your costs if you travel to Germany with the purpose of receiving medical treatment there. This also concerns chronic or preexisting diseases. If you are planning to receive treatment in Germany, you should absolutely contact your healthcare insurer in your home country before travelling to Germany.

Return transportation to your home country is not included in the range of benefits available under statutory health insurance in Germany and is thus not covered by your EHIC, GHIC or PRC.

What benefits are you entitled to receive?

If you need medical or dental treatment, you should directly consult a doctor’s or dentist’s practice that has a contract with statutory health insurance, recognisable amongst other things by the note “Alle Kassen”, and show your EHIC, GHIC or PRC. The following search engines may also help you when you are looking for a registered contract doctor or dentist:

- The search engine of the National Association of Statutory Health Insurance Physicians to find registered contract doctors http://www.kbv.de/html/artztsuche.php (only available in German)
- The search engine of the National Association of Statutory Health Insurance Dentists to find registered contract dentists https://www.kzbv.de/zahnarztsuche.1078.de.html (only available in German)
- The search engine of statutory health insurance funds to find registered contract dentists and doctors https://www.gkv-spitzenverband.de/service/versicherten_service/suchmaschinen/suchmaschinen.jsp (only available in German)

You also need to present your ID card/passport at the contract doctor’s/dentist’s practice and choose a German health insurance fund at whose expense you would like to be treated. Your doctor/dentist will provide you with a bilingual form available in several EU languages on which you can select a health insurance fund and fill in your personal data. You should absolutely make sure that the information provided is complete and legible. A list of all statutory health insurance funds in Germany is available under: https://www.gkv-spitzenverband.de/service/krankenkassenliste/krankenkassen.jsp

You will be bound to the health insurance fund you have chosen for the duration of treatment.
Outside regular consulting hours, you may turn to an out-of-hours service (emergency service – “Notdienst”) by calling the number 116117 for free from anywhere in Germany (https://www.116117.de/bps/web/index.php/de/search). In life-threatening situations (such as a stroke, a heart attack or a severe accident), please call the ambulance service by dialling the emergency phone number 112.

If the contract doctor/dentist treating you considers that you should further be treated by a specialist physician, the doctor will issue a referral. Please present this referral together with your EHIC, GHIC or PRC and your ID card/passport at the specialist physician’s practice.

If the doctor determines that you require medicines, he/she will issue you with a prescription which you can use at any pharmacy. Outside regular opening hours, you may receive medicines from the emergency pharmacy service. You can find the name of the pharmacy currently on emergency duty either displayed in shop windows of nearby pharmacies, in the local newspaper or under: https://www.aponet.de/apotheke/notdienstsuche.

If an illness becomes so serious that hospital treatment is necessary, the contract doctor/dentist treating you will admit you to a registered contract hospital. Please present the referral together with your EHIC, GHIC or PRC and your ID card or passport at the hospital. In an emergency, you can go directly to a registered contract hospital with your EHIC, GHIC or PRC.

These co-payments (apart from those payable for transport costs) do not apply to children and young people under the age of 18. Expectant mothers for whom medicines, bandages or therapeutic agents are prescribed to treat pregnancy-related symptoms also receive these with no co-payment.

If you were unable to receive treatment as described here, but had to pay yourself, please have an invoice and receipt made out detailing the services provided. The institution responsible for your healthcare cover in your home country will then determine whether and if so what amount can be refunded to you.

What should you keep in mind when becoming unable to work while staying in Germany?

If the contract doctor or dentist treating you finds that you are unable to work, you should ask him or her to issue an incapacity for work certificate to you. The practice will provide you with a printout of the electronic certificate of incapacity for work in triplicate (health insurance fund, insured person, employer).

If you receive in-patient treatment you should ask the hospital to issue a “Liegbescheinigung” to you for the duration of your hospital stay as a proof of your incapacity for work. When you are discharged from hospital, hospital doctors may certify incapacity for work for a period of up to 7 days from discharge. In such a case you will also receive a printout of the electronic certificate of incapacity for work in triplicate (health insurance fund, insured person, employer).

You immediately have to send the “Liegbescheinigung” or the version of the incapacity for work certificate intended for the health insurance fund to your healthcare insurer in your home country.

What can you do if you forgot to bring along your EHIC or GHIC?

If you forgot to bring your EHIC or GHIC, the doctor’s or dentist’s practice will bill you for the fee privately. In this case, you can ask your healthcare insurer in your home country to send you a Provisional Replacement Certificate (PRC) as quickly as possible (e.g. by fax). If you submit the PRC to the registered contract doctor’s practice by the end of the quarter (to a contract dentist’s practice within ten days) of first taking up their services, they are obliged to refund the fee to you.
